Dear Working Concepts, Inc.,

Over two years ago we were introduced to your products at a convention in Portland, OR. We had been looking for an ergo-mat that would meet the rigorous demands of our employees, along with the physical demands of our facility.

The information we gathered about ERGOKNEEL® mats seemed too good to be true. Your information indicated that manufacturing facilities, service departments, and retail establishments have used ERGOKNEEL® mats on hard surfaces for over two years without deteriorating. We asked if they would holdup if used on asphalt and expanded metal. Your response was of course they will! Again, we were a little skeptical but decided to purchase two of the smaller mats.

Two years later, we are still using the original ERGOKNEEL® mats, along with many more. We have not had one complaint from any of our employees, other than not having enough mats. We still have a hard time believing how well your mats have held up for us. From the first time we were introduced to your products, you have asked us to have the highest expectation of your products, and we have. As a satisfied customer we can tell you that your products have not let us down.

On behalf of all our employees, we would like to thank you for providing us great products, pricing, and service.

Sincerely,

Chris Mackin

GRRRREAT!

The Ergokneels aren't just clean . . . as foams go, the are AMAZINGLY clean.

Just thought you would like some more bragging data since you have earned bragging rights.

These are very special kneelers and I gush about them whenever I can. It took so long to find a clean foam.
